Noun

Definition:

➤ Noun is the name of Person, Place or things.

Or

➤ A noun is a word used as the names of a person, place, thing, action, quality or condition.

➤ Everything presents in the world is called a Noun.

Example:

Example	Explanation
Ram called Reena.	Who calls Reena? – The answer will be Ram. Therefore, Ram is a noun here because it answers “who”. Similarly, whom does Ram call? – The answer will be Reena. Therefore, Reena is a noun here because it answers “whom”.
Time is precious for me.	What is precious for him (me)? – The answer will be time. Therefore, time is a noun because it answers “what”.
Ram and Sita are going to market.	Where are Ram and Sita going? – The answer will be market. Therefore, “market” answers “where”, so “where” functions as an adverb here. However, who is going to the market? – The answer will be Ram and Sita. Therefore, Ram and Sita are nouns because they answer “who”.

Nouns are classified on the basis of their functional level. In a sentence, a noun is identified based on its functional (working) role.

Types of Nouns:

Proper Noun

➤ The names of a particular or specific person, place or thing are known as proper nouns.

Rules:

- The first letter of a Proper Noun is always written in a capital letter.
- Articles such as “a, an, or the” are not used with Proper Nouns.

Example:

1. Ram is my friend.
2. I live in Jaipur.
3. He is Tom.

Common Noun

➤ A common noun is a noun referring to a person, place or thing in a general sense.

Example:

1. According to the boy, the nearest town is very far.
2. All the gardens in the neighbourhood were invaded by beetles this summer.
3. The road crew was startled by the sight of three large cats crossing the road.
4. Dogs are the most adorable and lovable pets to keep.

Rules

- Sometimes, “the” is used before a Proper Noun, and it is then used like a Common Noun.
 - ✓ Kalidas is the Shakespeare of India.
- Sometimes, a Proper Noun is also used like a Common Noun. At that time, the Proper Noun represents a class or a person belonging to that class.
 - ✓ There are five Ram in my Class.
- Proper, Material, and Abstract Nouns are always singular, but when they are used in the plural form, they become Common Nouns.
 - ✓ Simran is the wife of Shivam. (Proper Noun)
 - ✓ All the ladies of India are not a Simran. (Common Noun)
 - ✓ Iron is a hard metal. (Proper Noun)
 - ✓ Where are the irons? (Common Noun)

Noun: Number

- The number indicates how many persons or objects are being referred to.
- The form that indicates only one is called the singular.
- The form that indicates more than one is called the plural.

Countable Noun: A countable noun is a noun with both a singular and a plural form, and it names anything (or anyone) that one can count.

Example

- a) Time and technology are two important factors that change substances into resources.
 - b) The man played the flute and led all the mice out of the town.
 - c) The usage of chemicals, insecticides and pesticides began after the Green Revolution.
 - d) The businessman also insisted that the police had issued him several summonses.
- Uncountable Nouns: An uncountable noun is a noun which does not have a plural form, and which refers to something that one cannot usually count. A non-countable noun always takes a singular verb in a sentence. uncountable nouns are similar to collective nouns, and are the opposite of countable nouns.

Example

- a) I've got a lot of homework this weekend.
- b) The little boy made much mischief in school.

Notes: Some Nouns Are Both Countable and uncountable.

- Time is money. (Here, "time" is a countable noun.)
- One should not waste the time on trifles. (Here, "time" is an uncountable noun.)

Some important Rules of Nouns

Rule 1: Some nouns are always used in the plural form. The “s” at the end of these nouns cannot be removed to make them singular. They appear plural and are also used as plural.

Words : Alms, amends, annals, archives, ashes, arrears, athletics, auspices, caves, species, scissors, trousers, pants, clippers, bellows, gallows, fangs, eyeglasses, goggles, belongings, breeches, bowels, braces, binoculars, customs, congratulations, dregs,

Exceptions:

earnings, entrails, embers, fetters, fireworks, lodgings, lees, odds, outskirts, particulars, proceeds, proceedings, regards, riches, remains, savings, shambles, shears, spectacles, surroundings, tidings, troops, tactics, thanks, tongs, vegetables, valuables, wages, Bacteria etc.

Example:

- He hated always to be the bearer of bad tidings.
- Bacteria are single-celled organisms that can reproduce on their own.

Rule 2: Some nouns appear to be plural but are singular in meaning. They are always used as singular.

Words: News, Innings, Politics, Summons, Physics, Economics, Ethics, Mechanics, Mathematics, Mumps, Rickets, Billiards, Draughts, etc.

Example:

- No news is good news.
- Economics is a good subject.
- Draughts is a good game.
- Ethics demands honesty in working.

Rule 3: Some nouns appear to be singular but are always used in the plural form.

Words: cattle clergy, cavalry, infantry, poultry, peasantry, children, gentry, police etc.

Example:

- Cattle are grazing in the field.
- Police have arrested the thieves.
- The police finished their investigation.

Notes: "People" means "persons". "Peoples" means "people of different races".

Rule 4: Some nouns are used only in the singular form. These are uncountable nouns, and articles "a/an" are not used with them.

Words: Scenery, Poetry, Furniture, Advice, Information, Hair, Language, Business, Mischievous, Bread, Stationery, Crockery, Luggage, Baggage, Postage, Knowledge, Wastage, Money, Jewellery, Breakage, temper.

Example:

- He loses his temper on the slightest provocation.
- Some passengers misplaced their luggage before boarding the train.
- Mr. Abhilash and his family have received no information about the incident.
- I want to give you information about the missing necklace.

Notes: The plural form of "money" can be "monies", which means "sums of money".

Example:

- Monies have been collected and handed to the women's welfare society.

Rule 5: Some nouns have the same form in both singular and plural.

Words: deer, fish, crew, family, team, jury, carp, pike, trout, aircraft, counsel etc.

Example:

- The jury is considering its judgement.
- The jury are considering their verdict.
- One fish is there in the pond.
- There are many fish in the pond.

Rule 6: Some nouns are plural in meaning, but when they are preceded by a definite numeral adjective, they are not pluralized.

Words: Pair, score, gross, stone, hundred, dozen, thousand, million, Billion etc.

Example:

- I have two hundred rupees only.
- He has already donated five thousand rupees.
- It is a three feet wall.
- It is five feet in width.

Exceptions: If they are used with an indefinite countable expression, they are pluralized.

Example: dozens of women, hundreds of people, millions of dollars, scores of shops, many pairs of shoes, thousands millions etc.

Rule 7: If a noun is followed by a preposition and then the same noun again, the noun remains singular.

Example:

- Town after town was devastated.
- Row upon row of pick marble looks beautiful.
- He enquired from door to door.
- Ship after ship is arriving.

Note: In such sentences, writing "towns after towns", "rows upon rows", "doors to doors", or "ships after ships" is incorrect.

Rule 8: In a sentence, when "a half" or "a quarter" comes after a numeral adjective, the noun is placed after the numeral adjective, and then "a half" or "a quarter" is written.

Example:

- He gave me one rupee and a half.
- She gave me two rupees and a quarter.

Notes: If the numeral adjective and the fraction are joined by "and" and used in the sense of multiplication, then the noun is used in the plural form after "a half" or "a quarter".

Example:

- Two and a quarter times.
 - One and a half times.
- Here, multiplication is used in the sentence; therefore, the noun "times" is used in the plural form after "a quarter" or "a half".

Rule 9: A hyphenated noun is not used in the plural form.

Example:

- He gave me two hundred-rupee notes.
- He stays in five-star hotels. (Convert "stars" into "star")

Rule 10: With "a set of", "a pair of", "a group of", "each of", "either of", and "neither of", the noun is plural, and the helping verb is singular.

Example:

- a. A set of proceeds was deposited in bank account.
- b. A pair of shocks has bought by Ramesh.
- c. Each of Students has solved this Questions.

Rule 11: both of / all of + Noun plural + helping Plural

Example:

- a. All of students are thrown out in my class.

Rule 13:

Example:

- a. Ramesh spent ten rupees.
- b. She sold two dozens.
- c. We bought two dozen mangoes from the market.

Rule 14: Unit (Plural) of noun (Plural) + plural helping verb

Example:

- a. Hundreds of shops are closed during riot.

Rule 12: Numeral + unit (singular) + Noun (singular)/ adjective

Numeral + unit (Plural) + adjective

Example:

- a. She saw a six foot snake.
- b. He is six feet tall

- b. Balloons filled with helium travel hundreds or even thousands of miles.

Rule 15: more than one unit in sentence. We use unit in ascending order.

Example:

- a. Thousands of lakhs of student of student have given test.

Rule 16:

Example:

- a. Two Spoonful
- b. His sons-in-law have enhanced his business within a short period

Rule 17:

Example:

- a. Ten miles needs to covered completely on foot.
- b. Five thousands rupees were spent on foot and entertainment.

- b. America is proud of her scientists.

Rule 4: The feminine gender of some nouns is formed by using “person” with them.

- a. Chairman – chairperson
- b. Spokesman – spokesperson

Noun: CASE

➤ Case is used to define the relationship of a noun with the verb or other words in a sentence.

- 1. Nominative Case / Subjective Case: When the subject is given importance in a sentence, it is called the subjective or nominative case. (Noun used as subject)

- a. Dinkar wrote many poems.
 - b. He was going to market.
2. Objective case: When the object has prominence in a sentence. (Noun used as object)
 - a. Kamlesh Helped Priyanka.
 - b. Sita wrote a letter daily.
 3. Vocative Case: Used to address a noun or pronoun.
 - a. Ramesh, Come here.
 - b. Let's dance together.
 - c. You come late today, Dinkar.
 4. Possessive Case: Used when a noun or pronoun shows possession over another noun or pronoun.
 - a. Boy's Rule
 - b. Rule of boy
 - c. Mohan's land
 - d. Land of Mohan

Note:

- For living things, possession is formed using 's. For non - living things, possession is generally formed using "of".
- Noun + 's = singular; Noun + s' = plural

Example:

- a. I just don't like the themes of today's music.
- b. Workers and companies in all sectors can contribute their skills to meet society's new needs.

Pronoun/ adjective possessive case

Subjective Case	Objective Case	Possessive Pronoun	Possessive Adjective
I	Me	Mine	My
We	Us	Ours	Our
You	You	Yours	Your
They	Them	Theirs	Their
He	Him	His	His
She	Her	Hers	Her
It	It		Its

- Time, place, idiomatic expressions, and celestial bodies, when personified, form the possessive by adding 's.
 - a. Diwali's celebration
 - b. Delhi's pollution
 - c. A ton's weight
 - d. One day's leave
 - e. Earth's beauty
 - f. Sun's presence
 - g. At arm's length
- ✓ The moon is Earth's only natural satellite and the nearest large celestial body.

- a. You and I can do this work. (21)
- b. You and he are working in the same office. (23)
- c. You, she and I have been working happily in the same company and in the same branch for the last nine years. (231)

Rule 3: Plural Pronoun: When more than one pronoun is used in a sentence and they are plural, they follow the order 1st person, 2nd person, and 3rd person (123 order).

Example:

- a. We and you cannot live together. (12)
- b. We, you and they can purchase that complex. (123)

Rule 4: If a sentence expresses a mistake, fault, offense, or any negative idea, then the order of pronouns should be 1st person, 2nd person, and 3rd person (123 order).

Example:

- a. I and he will beg sorry for the misconduct.
- b. I and you are responsible for the loss.
- c. You and he spoiled the party.

Rule 5: If more than one pronoun of different persons is used in a sentence and a single plural pronoun is used for them, (it should be used accordingly).

- III + I Person → I Person Plural
- II + III Person → II Person Plural
- II + I Person → I Person Plural

Example:

- a. You and I have done our job.
- b. You he and I have completed our duty.
- c. You and I have submitted our work on time.

Rule 6: With a collective noun, the pronoun is used in the singular (and neuter gender) when the collective noun is considered as a single unit. If the collective noun is not used as a unit but as separate individuals, then a plural pronoun is used.

Example:

- a. Apart from Germany, they also visited Italy and Austria during their business trip.
- b. The travelling gypsies wanted to display their skillful antics to the crowd.

Note: Here, with collective nouns such as Jury, Society, and Government, the pronoun is used not to express a single unit, but to show separateness, division, or individuality.

Rule 7: When two or more pronouns are joined by “and”, the pronoun is plural.

Example:

- a. Ram and Mohan went to their school.
- b. Suresh and his family members have completed their work.

Rule 8: When two singular nouns are joined by “and” and each or every is used before them, the pronoun is also singular.

Example:

- a. Each officer and each clerk has joined his duty.
- b. Every soldier and every officer was in his place.

Rule 9: With each, either, and neither, always a singular pronoun and a singular verb are used.

Example:

- a. Each of the students is ready to do his duty.
- b. Either of the two students gets his gift.
- c. Neither of them gets his turn.

Rule 10: When two or more singular nouns are joined by “or”, “either...or”, or “neither...nor”, the pronoun is used in the singular form.

Example:

- a. Ram or Shyam should deposit his dues.
- b. Either Ramesh or Ganesh lost his purse.
- c. Neither Ram nor Shyam has completed his work.

Rule 11: When one plural noun and one singular noun are joined by “or” or “nor”, a plural pronoun is used.

Example:

- a. Either the Principal or the teachers failed in their duty.
- b. Neither the teacher nor the students have done their work.

Rule 12: In comparative sentences, the use of the nominative or objective form of the pronoun after “than” or “as” depends on the meaning of the sentence.

Example:

- a. I love you more than he (loves you).
- b. I love you more than (I love) him.
- c. I shall give you as many pens as (I shall give) him.
- d. I am as intelligent as he (is).

Rule 13: A pronoun used after a “to be” form of verb should be in the same case as the noun or pronoun used before the verb “to be”.

Example:

- a. It is I.
- b. This is She.

Note: In such sentences, when a clause is used with “who/which”, the pronoun coming after the verb “to be” is always used in the nominative case.

Example:

- a. It is he who is responsible.
- b. It is she who refused the offer.
- c. It is I who saw her yesterday.
- d. It is he who will pay you.

Rule 14: After “let”, “like”, “between”, “but”, “except”, and prepositions, the objective case is used.

Example:

- Let me do this work.
- Let me clear the doubts, if any.
- Everybody but him was present for the meeting.

Use of It:

Rule 1: “It” is used for animals, non-living things, countries, and babies. The plural of “it” is “they”.

Example:

- Here is your pen. Please take it.
- He has a cat. It is very beautiful.
- When he saw the child, it was playing.

Rule 2: “It” is used as an introductory subject to express time, weather, temperature, distance, or other natural phenomena. In this case, “it” is called an “empty it” because it has no specific meaning.

Example:

- It is 7 O’clock.
- It is fine.
- It is summer.

Rule 3: “It” is also used in place of an infinitive, gerund, or clause.

Example:

- It rains.
- It blows.

Rule 4: “It” is used as the subject of a sentence to emphasize a noun or pronoun.

Example:

- It is you, who can solve this problem.
- It is the place where he was murdered.

Rule 5: “It” is used to introduce a phrase or clause.

Example:

- That the Record will break today is probable.

Rule 6: “It” is used in exclamatory sentences in the following way:

Example:

- What a beautiful bird it is!
- What a large building it is!

Rule 7: The possessive pronoun required here is “its” (without an apostrophe).

It’s = it is

- She has been a member of this club since its formation.
- It’s impossible to conduct truly causal research on media consumption and suicide.
- Now it’s referring to the same big lug who met his fate thanks to David’s slingshot.
- The energetic kitten is playful after having its breakfast.
- A computer can’t function without its motherboard.

Reflexive Pronoun:

- When the action done by the subject turns back (reflects) upon the subject.
- Pronouns are formed by adding “self” to my, your, him, her, and it, and by adding “selves” to our, your, and them. They are used as objects in a sentence and refer back to the subject itself.

	First Person	Second Person	Third Person
Sing.	Myself	Yourself	Himself, herself, itself
Plural	Ourselves	Yourselves	themselves

Example:

- The boys hid themselves.
- Ram and Shyam blamed themselves for the accident.
- The cat bit its tail and hurt itself.
- She herself is responsible for this situation of hers.

Rules Related to Reflexive Pronoun

Rule 1: Some transitive verbs are used with reflexive pronouns. A transitive verb requires an object; when no object is present with such verbs, a reflexive pronoun is used to complete the object.

verbs: avail, absent, enjoy, resign, apply, revenge, exert etc.

Example:

- They enjoyed themselves the pleasure of weather.
- Try to avail yourself of every opportunity that comes your way.
- You should avail yourself of this opportunity to demonstrate your skills.

Rule 2: Some verbs, when used intransitively, are not used with reflexive pronouns.

Verbs: Keep, break, set, bathe, make, stop, steal, qualify, move, open, draw, rest, roll, burst, hide, feed, gather, sleep etc.

- Generally, these verbs are used intransitively.

Example:

- She hid in the room.
- After a long and fun-filled day, the children slept peacefully.

Emphatic Pronoun

- When compound personal pronouns are used for the sake of emphasis.
- If a reflexive pronoun means “oneself,” then an emphatic pronoun means “self” (i.e., “personally” or “by oneself”).
- An emphatic pronoun is used to emphasize a noun or pronoun in a sentence.

Example:

- a. I myself solved this question.
- b. You yourself admitted your fault.
- c. She herself found the solution.

Reciprocal Pronoun

- When two pronouns are used together to express a mutual relationship, they are called reciprocal pronouns.
- Reciprocal pronouns are used in the objective case.

I. For two – “each other” is used:

Example:

- a. The two brothers loved each other.
- b. Russia and America are jealous of each other.
- c. The three of them shouted out to each other when the train started moving.

II. For more than two – “one another” is used:

Example:

- a. The five boys helped one another.
- b. They all gave gifts to one another.

Exclamatory Pronoun

- A pronoun used as an exclamation is called an Exclamatory Pronoun.

Example:

- a. What! You don’t know Sonia Gandhi?
- b. What! You lost the chain?

Demonstrative Pronoun

- Demonstrative Pronoun is used to point out the object to which it refers.
- This, That, and These are demonstrative pronouns. A verb is used immediately after them.

Example:

- a. This is the gift from my mother.
- b. These are the books, I found in the bag.
- c. That is my house.

Note: If, in a sentence, a noun is used after a demonstrative word instead of a verb, then it is used as an adjective, not as a pronoun.

Example:

- a. This pen is mine.
- b. That book is hers.
- c. These books are his.

Rules Related to Demonstrative Pronoun

Rule 1: “This” is used for a single person or thing that is near, while “These” is used for more than one person or thing that is near.

Example:

- a. This is a cat.
- b. These are cats.

Rule 2: “That” is used for a single person or thing that is far, while “Those” is used for more than one person or thing that is far.

Example:

- a. That is a book.
- b. Those are books.

Note: To avoid the repetition of a singular noun, “that of” is used, and to avoid the repetition of a plural noun, “those of” is used.

Example:

- a. The climate of Pune is better than that (Mean: climate) of Mumbai.
- b. The streets of Delhi are wider than those (Mean: streets) of Mumbai.

Rule 3: In a sentence, “one” is used to avoid the repetition of a singular countable noun, while “ones” is used to avoid the repetition of a plural countable noun, not “one’s”.

Example:

- a. This is the new version, but that is an old one.
- b. These are new books, but those are old ones.

Indefinite Pronoun

- These pronouns refer to persons or things in a general way, but do not refer to any person or thing in particular.
- Pronouns that do not indicate any specific person or thing are called indefinite pronouns.
- With “one”, “one’s” is used in the possessive form.

Indefinite Pronoun: all, anybody, anyone, anything, everybody, everyone, everything, few, many, no one, nobody, none, nothing, one, other, same, some, somebody, someone, something, such etc.

Word	Person	Thing
Some	Someone, somebody	Something
Any	Anyone, anybody	Anything
Every	Everyone, everybody	Everything
No	No one, no body	Nothing
Possessive case	His	Its

Note: “One” is used in the nominative, reflexive, and possessive cases in the forms “one”, “oneself”, and “one’s” respectively.

Example:

- One should do one’s duty.
- One must do one’s work.

Distributive Pronoun

➤ These pronouns refer to persons or things one at a time. For this reason, they are always singular and as such followed by the verb in singular.

➤ These pronouns are always singular, and a singular verb is used with them.

Distributive Pronoun: Each, Every, Either, Neither, Everyone, none

Example

- ✓ Each of the students gets a prize.
- ✓ Either of the two will win the race.
- ✓ Neither of those two students can secure first position.
- ✓ Every one of the students was happy.

Distributive Pronoun	Meaning
Everyone	used in the context of more than two
Each	used for two or more
Either	any one of the two
Neither	none of the two
Any, none, no one	used for more than two (any, none, no one)

Rules Related to Distributive Pronoun

Rule 1: Each/Either/Neither + of + plural Noun + S.H.V ----- (After “each of”, “either of”, and “neither of”, a plural noun or plural pronoun is used.)

Example:

- Each of the boys has a note book.
- Each of the boys has his own pen.

Note: The plural noun used after “each of”, “either of”, and “neither of” is preceded by “the”.

Rule 2: If “each” is used with the subject, it is placed after the subject and before the auxiliary verb, and the main verb is used according to the subject.

Example:

- We each have advised him to give up smoking.

Rule 3: “Both” is used for two persons or things. It is not used in negative sentences.

Example:

- Both of the two students are guilty.

Rule 4: With distributive pronouns, a third person, singular pronoun in the masculine gender (he, his, him) is used.

Example:

- Everyone should obey his parents.
- Neither of these two students has received his prize.

Rule 5: If a feminine gender noun is used after a distributive pronoun, then the pronoun “her” must be used.

Example:

- Neither of these two girls has deposited her fees.
- Either of the two girls has received her gift.
- Each of the girls has donated her pocket money.

Rule 6: If plural pronouns (us/them/you) are used instead of feminine nouns, then a singular masculine gender pronoun is used.

Example:

- Neither of them has done his duty.
- Each of them has forgot his purse.

Interrogative Pronoun

- By whom was the Ramayana written?

Note: If the preposition is used at the end of the sentence, "who" is used at the beginning.

- Who was the Ramayana written by?

Rule 2: "Whose" is not used for non-living things.

- Whose book is this?

Relative Pronoun

- Relative Pronoun refers to some noun going before, which is called its antecedent.
- Relative pronouns (who, which, that, what, whose, whom) are those pronouns that refer back to a noun used earlier; this noun is called the antecedent (which comes before).

Relative Pronoun: Who, Whom, That, Which

Example:

- I know the man who came here yesterday
- Here is the book that you lent me.
- I have found the pen which I lost.

Note:

- The number and gender of a relative pronoun are the same as those of the noun or pronoun used before it. Generally, the antecedent comes before the relative pronoun, but sometimes the antecedent is not clearly stated (i.e., it is implied).

Example:

- Whom the God loves die young.
- Where are the boys I called?

- When a relative pronoun is used to describe or define its antecedent, it is called a Restrictive Relative Pronoun.

Example:

- People who are lonely have higher levels of the hormone cortisol.
- It was he who encouraged me when I was feeling low.

- When a relative pronoun does not define the antecedent but only adds extra information, it is called a Continuative (Non-restrictive) Relative Pronoun.

Example:

- I met Ram who gave me a pen. (Who = and he)
- She hit the glass which fell into pieces. (Which = and it)

Rules Related to Relative Pronoun

1. Who/ Whom: Person के लिए किया जाता है।

Rule 1: These are used for persons and living nouns. "Who" is used in the nominative case, and "whom" is used in the objective case. With "people" and "those", "who" is used.

Example:

- What is the name of the Swami whose autobiography impressed you so much?
- My friend whose leg was fractured has recovered.

4. That का प्रयोग:

Rule 3: When two antecedents joined by "and" are used, one referring to a person and the other to an animal or thing, "that" is used as the relative pronoun.

- The man and his dog that I saw yesterday have been kidnapped.

Rule 4: "That" is used after a superlative degree.

- Mr. Mishra is the most laborious man that I have ever seen.
- He is the most eloquent speaker that I have ever heard.

Rule 5: When "all" refers to persons, "who/that" is used after it.

- All who/that are interested to do this work can start now

Rule 6: When "all" refers to things, "that" is used after it.

- All that glitters is not gold

Rule 7: "That" is used after "all + uncountable noun".

- All the money that I gave her has been spent.

Rule 8: “That” is used after words like everything, nothing, the only, any, all, everyone, none, no, nobody, much, little, the same, the few, the little.

- My father has given me everything that I needed.
- My wife has spent the little money that I gave her.

Rule 9: When the verb is clearly expressed, “that” is used after “the same + noun”.

- This is the same man that deceived me.
- There was none that didn’t support the cause.
- This is the book that I wanted to buy.

Rule 10: No preposition is placed before “that”. If a preposition is required, it is placed at the end of the sentence.

- We know the hotel that she lives in.
- I understand the point that you are hinting at.

Compound relative Pronouns: Whoever, whosoever, whomsoever, whatever, whichever, whatsoever, etc., are compound relative pronouns. They are used without an antecedent, as the antecedent is included within them.

- Whatever - anything which.
- Whichever - anything which.
- Whoever/whosoever - any person who.
- Whomsoever - any person whom.

Example

- You can eat whatever you like.
